PEERLESS DYES

Why They Are $5.

There can be no two opinions about what storekeeping is done for. It is done for profit. Without that we should, more than likely, fall back to the days of bartering clothing for corn, and cotton for bacon.

We say frankly we sell clothing for a profit.

For the sake of getting plenty of trade, however, we are selling Trousers at $5 made-to-measure.

We are making profit on them subordinate to trade. We make a little—a very little.

We are putting all the pressure of bringing trade to Wanamaker's for these on the styles and the price. We are selling hundreds of them by doing that. Didn't you fully expect till you saw them to pay two or three $5 for such styles?

So you would, if you hadn't Wanamaker's to come to. So you would, if enterprise wasn't at our right hand.

The value you are getting pleases you. The cheery trade it brings pleases us. What does both?

These styles at $5.

LONDON, February 7.—The demonstration in London in honor of the released Irish prisbe an imposing affair. No hall large enough to hold the meeting could be obtained in Lou-don, some larger buildings, such as the Albert's Hall, not being available for political gatherings, others including the Royal Aquarium and Her Malesty's Theater were refused because the owners disapproved of ome rule. The Liberals, in fact, are very badly off for accommodation of this kind and talk of creeting a building specially. "I think not. When that court decides a case they dispose of it forever, and there is not much use in asking them to review their decision. I can see nothing to be gained by asking for a rehearing."

"It would postpone the issuing of a mandate and in that way delay the execution and give you further time." am hard at work on that matter now and have some letters from some of the leading members of the bar, and we expect a number more. We are only securing signatures that will have some weight to the petition. I traveled 450 miles, and traveled three days for one signature and letter, and I have just figured that I have traveled twenty-eight miles for another, and will probably have to travel four more miles before I get the letter. The man lives two miles out in the suburbs, and every trip I make means four miles, and I have made seven and seen him twice. I will have to see him once more to get the letter. In this way the work consumes a great deal of time."

"When do you expect your partner, Mr. Martin, here with Mr. Brooks, Sr.?"

"I don't know. He telegraphed me this morning from Washington about the mandate of the United States Supreme Court, but said nothing about when he would arrive. I think they will probably stop over one day in Indianapolis, as Mr. Martin wishes to attend to some business there in regard to that case of the Order of the Iron Hall. They may arrive any time from to-morrow on."

Chief-Justice Waite of the Supreme Court at Washington yesterday said that the Court would issue a special mandate in the Maxwell ruary 20, two weeks from date. That is to say the mandate would issue in case there was no petition for a rehearing. As will be seen above there is no likelihood that Maxwell's attorneys will take any such action. Mr. Brooks, Sr., will probably arrive here Friday. He landed at New York yesterday on the Aurania. case at the session of the court Feb-

The post-mortem, however, developed that death was due to the failure of the heart to act and not to the chloroform taken. Hill, who wis a German 51 years of age, was at times an excessive drinker. He suffered from frost-bitten feet, and faturday about noon he took a dose of chloroform, and then hid the bottle in the cellar, where it was afterward found. He told his wife as he was taking the drug that it was something that would cure his feet. He then fell asleep and breathed very heavily and could not be aroused at 1 o'clock. At 5:30 p. m. the wife and son attempted without success to arouse him. About 6 o'clock Dr. Marks was called in. He restored him to consciousness about 3 a. m. Sunday, and later in the day he died. THE DOMESTIC TROUBLES OF YOUNG WIVES ENDING IN DIVORCE.

New Grist for the Mill Under the Dome—A Father's Application to Recover Two Little Girls—Some Peculiar Allegations— New Suits Entered To-Day in the Circuit Court-Decisions by Judges Dillon and

A petition for divorce was filed to-day in the A petition for divorce was filed to-day in the Circuit Court by Gertrude Salazar against Eugene Salazar. They were married on the 23d of November, 1884, at Henrietta, Tex. Mrs. Salazar complains that her husband subjected her to various indignities, rendering her condition intolerable; that he wilfully neglected her and failed and refused to contribute to the support of his family. She further alleges order to furnish the means of support for her-self and child, and that her husband boasted of his neglect and indifference. When she nttered a remonstrance at his conduct he re-plied: "I never intended to support you when I married, and I never will support you. If you do not like it suit yourself."

Mrs. Salazar further alleges that her hus-band was able to earn good wages, but he band was able to earn good wages, but he spent his money in drinking and gambling resorts. To cause his wife humiliation she complains that he wrote to her uncle the most offensive letters concerning her and told her people that he would never do a thing for the support of his wife. In the end he absented himself from her. One child was born of the union, and the mother asks for its custody, together with restoration of her maiden name, Gertrude Leisch. As an additional ground for the divorce, Mrs. Salazar alleges that her husband's petulant disposition made matters uncomfortable for everybody around him.

Tired of Her in One Month.

A petition for divorce was filed in the Circuit Court to-day by Annie O. Wade against Samuel F. Wade. They were married on the East Side March 2, 1885, and only lived together for one month. Mrs. Wade alleges that her husband refused to live with her and failed to support her. She was not aware of any reason for his conduct.

To Recover a Trance Medium

An application for a writ of habeas corpu was presented this morning to Judge Valliant in behalf of Hermann Niemann who seeks to recover the possession and control of his two recover the possession and control of his two little daughters, Antoinette and Loretta Niemann. The father's petition alleges that he was married in 1875 to Margaret F. Dunn, and that they lived together until April, 1883. He states that he had domestic troubles, and that it was all caused by taking one Burton Knapp into the family and that it ended in his being forced away from his own home. When his mother died some money was left in trust for the children, but it was squandered by his wife. He turther alleges that as a piece of spite work and for purposes of blackmail he was proceeded against in the Court of Criminal Correction for abandonment, whereas he avers that he was at all times ready and willing to support his children, He further charges that his children were surrounded by improper influences and that one was advertised as a trance medium greatly to his distress and annoyance. He declares that it is absolutely necessary for the giris to be removed from their present quarters and he asked the Court to order their production in court. A writ was granted returnable on Thursday morning in Court streets all night in search of a police station, but did not succeed in finding one until them. The wound he inflicted upon himself is several inches long and quite deep.

Wonderly stated that he and his wife came to the city about a week ago from Pacific, Mo. He had been drinking to excess of late, and his wife, who is stopping with friends on Barton street near a fire-engine house, had instituted a suit for divorce. This is what caused him, he said, to attempt to destroy his life. He out himself at the heuse where she is stopping. The police sent him to the City Dispensary, from which he was removed to the City Hospital. Barton street is 2600 south and the Third District Station is 100 north, being at the corner of Carr and Seventh streets. Wonderly, after his attempt at self-destruction, walked thirty-seven block, if he followed the straight line, a rather long walk for a man who had weakened himself by blood letting. There is no record in St. Louis of the divorce suit of which he speaks.

Mary McLaughlin, a laundress employed by Robert Hilton in his hotel on the corner of Pine and Seventh streets, to-day swore out a Pine and Seventh streets, to-day swore out a warrant for assault and battery against him before Justice Kane. Miss McLaughlin's story was to this effect: She had determined to leave the place and did not report for work at all yesterday. About 10 'clock, however, she went to the hotel in order to get her clothes and for that purpose she proceeded up-stairs. Here, she alleges, Hilton followed her and told her to "get out." "I am going to get out; give me time," she replied. Then, according to her story, Hilton caught up her clothes and threw them out of the second story window. He follows this action, she goes on to say, by "isriking her in the face two or three times and shoving her down the stairs saying he would kick her out of his place."

When asked about the matter Hilton said:

wo or shree times and anothing her out of his place."
When asked about the matter Hilton said: "Idid not strike her at all. I wanted to get her out of my hoose, and she refused to go. Then I caught her by the shoulder and marched her down the stairs into the street. She had been with me only two weeks and was always fighting with the other girls in the hotel. She has a record as a fighter. At the Commercial Hotel she knocked two negroes down and laid out a man flat as the hotel she came from to the Commercial. I was determined not to take any of her tom foolery and told her so. She can sue all she wants to. Idid not strike her and I would strike no woman."
Miss McLaughlin wept copiously while relating the incident. She is a rather large and strong-looking woman. What she objected to most was the casting of her clothes, as she said, into the street.

The man was unconscious. He was removed to the City Hospital, just across the street, where the physicians after an examination of the wound, stated that it was fatal and that Tancher would not live through the day. Fannie Glimore of No.1704 Linn street and Carrie Link of 1706 Linn street state that they thought they heard a pistol report during the night, but could not locate it, so said nothing further about the matter until they learned this morning that Tancher had been found in the shed wounded. No cause for the act is assigned. It has been two years since Tancher worked at Seidel & Winkler's shop. He is supposed to have been out of employment and this it is thought may have been the cause of his attempt to take his life.

Taylor Avenue Extension of the Cable Line and a 5-Cent Fare on the Steam Pushes His Fire-Clay Reconstru-Scheme—The Session of the Asse Evening-Municipal Matters.

Delegates met at 11 o'clock this morning, after giving notice that the session would be a free-for-all. The committee box was taken from its pigeon-hole in the Clerk's desk, and Chairman Sullivan announced that all applicants for franchises would be heard. This action is taken as an answer to the numerous complaints about the conduct of the Rail-road Committees of the Municipal Assembly. ne custom of hanging up proposed ordinances itil some one appears to take them off of the hooks by the process referred to by Councilman Vogel as ''pushing'' has caused considerable unfavorable comment recently. Chairman Sullivan wants it understood that he is in favor of disposing of business without delay.

The first bill taken up by the committee today was house bill No. 274, authorizing the St. Louis Cable & Western road to maintain a second track from Vandeventer to Union avenue. During the adjournment of the Municinue. During the adjournment of the Municipal Assembly last summer Mayor Francis issued a permit, in anticipation of the necessary legislation, to lay the track. When the bill legalizing the permit was taken up in the committee to-day it was met by a delegation of citizens from the Twenty-eighth Ward who came to make out a case, or in fact several cases of bad faith on the part of the Cable Company, if possible. The principal point made was that the permission asked be not granted until the Cable Company included in its bill a provision that the company shall not be relieved of the conditions imposed upon it by the ordinances already granted to the company. Messrs. Meriwether and Williams of the Twenty-eighth Ward Committee presented an amendment to the bill rendering the proposed franchise null if, the company failed to extend the cable tracks to Taylor avenue as agreed in the ordinance granted in 1884. Mir. Hall of the committee also proposed an amendment reducing the translent fare from the Cable Depot on Vandeventer avenue to the city limits. Mr. Taylor, attorney for the road, replied. He said he had lost his patience with the objectors who did not appreciate the expensive improvements made by the road for the benefit of the residents of the western portion of the city. He said he could not refrain from saying that Mr. Williams was a crank. To this Mr. Williams replied that the road was crawfishing out of its contract and was charging fares beyond the most liberal statutory allowance Two hours were consumed in the Interchange of compilments. Everything was peacefully disposed of finally by Mr. Tredway accepting pal Assembly last summer Mayor Francis is-Two hours were consumed in the interchange of compilments. Everything was peacefully disposed of finally by Mr. Tredway accepting the proposed amendments to the ordinance. He said that if the Municipal Assembly and the patrons of the road insisted on the cable extension to Taylor avenue it would be made over the tracks of the steam division, and he further said the steam division from Taylor to Vandeventer avenues would never be abandoned. With this understanding the meeting addjourned.

Proposed Reconstruction Changes Delegate Mohan appeared before the Board of Public Improvements to-day to di-test the attention of that body to the proposed use of vitrified fireclay in the reconstruction of the streets. He says that the experiment was made several years ago by a man who only had a small capital and some of whose work was defective. Wherever the clay was prepared according to the patent it made a hard road-bed, as serviceable and less expensive than the granite. Delegate Mohan proposes that a committee be appointed to go East and to examine the uses of fire-clay bricks for street paving. The resolution creating the committee is now in the hands of a special committee, of which Delegate Weisenburger is Chairman. He expresses himself as opposed to the proposed trip at the expense of the municipality. Delegate John Waters expresses himself as also opposed to such inspection tours. "The outcome is doubtful," said he. "The old gas company wanted a committee to go East to inform themselves on coal gas, and when they came back they were full of water gas." He favors bringing the vitrified bricks here rather than going about the country to see them. clay in the reconstruction of the streets

City Register Tracy said he is waiting to see a copy of the Supreme Court decision on the resolution to assess a tax of 40 for school purposes. Mr. T. A. Russell, for school purposes. Mr. T. A. Russell, who introduced the original resolution in the School Board, states that according to his understanding the act passed at the last session of the Legislature does not entirely relieve the merchants of the tax, butsimply serves to reduce the tax so that the gain of the school fund instead of being about $120,000 under the resolution will only amount to about $18,000. The point is an involved one. The exact effect of the decision given yesterday will not be known until the full opinion is received and compared with the amended revenue laws.

The Coal Operators and Miners' Convention in Session at Pittsburg.

PITTSBERG, Pa., February 7 .- The annu Miners and Mine-Owners was called to order at Old City Hail, at II o'clock this morning by President S. Yeoman of Indiana. Over four hundred delegates, representing 200 pits in the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Maryland and West Virginia, were present at the opening session. After a brief address by President Yeoman, in which he complimented both sides for maintaining the scale adopted at Columbus, O., last year, a committee was appointed to examine credentials. The balance of the session was taken up with a discussion as to whether the hair-dozen delegates from Illinois and West Virginia would be allowed in the convention, as it was understood that the operators of the two States referred to had withdrawn from the agreement. The matter was finally left in the hands of the Committee on Credentials and the convention adjourned for dinner.

Frevious to the opening of the convention the operators met at the Monongahela house and decided to insist that the relative basis of mining be taken for the standard, the same as last year. The wage question was not considered, but it was rumored that the operators would ask a reduction. It is understood that the might of the miners are willing to accept the old rate, although a few want an advance. The meeting developed considerable opposition to the knights of Labor on the part of the Indjana operators, who threatened to withdraw from the association unless they were permitted to control their own mines. A SAD CASE.

Mrs. Michael Barrington and Her Five Children Arrive in Distress. The police report another case of shipmen of paupers to the city, and it is a sad case, too. Mrs. Michael Harrington and her five little children ranging in age from 6 months to 7 years are stopping with a family named Mrs. Ginness, in the rear of No. 1235 North Ninth street. They arrived here Saturday evening, and are in the most destitute circumstances. Mrs. Harrington states that she left Memphis about a week ago for Aito Pass, Ill., where she expected to find her husband. He was not there, however, and as she had no means of support the authorities sent her to the county farm. The overseer of the farm denied her admission, stating that he had no room for a woman with children. As she was willing to come to St. Louis the authorities at Aito Pass secured her transportation to the east side of the bridge and she paid her way over. It is a common thing for towns and cities within a radius of 300 miles of St. Louis to ship their poor here. It is a great burden to the citizens to be called upon to support the poor of other places, but the people are generally so extremely destitute that it is hard to refuse them aid.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., February 7.—The indicazens of the Southwest which begins in Kansas City to-morrow will meet the expectation of its backers. This conference is to be held to consider the question of calling a convention to memorialize Congress, asking that the necessary laws be enacted to open the Indian Territory to white settlers, and also to open that section known as "No Man's Land" to settlement. It is now a be largely attended, and it is possible that it may last two days instead of one. Nearly 700 invitations were sent out, and from the replies so far received it is believed that 300 delegates from abroad will be present.

Many who will not be able to attend have written to the committee expressing their warmest sympathy in the movement. So far only one person to whom an invitation was sent has declined to attend the conference on account of his opposition to the opening-up account of his opposition to the opening up of the Indian Territory. He is a State Senator of Kansas and thinks the Sunflower State would suffer if the Territory was thrown open. It is expected that many plans for opening the Territory will be submitted at the conference, but the friends of the enterprise declare that none will be entertained that are not founded upon law and justness. They say it is not the object of the convention to ignore the rights of any tribe, but an effort will be made to convert the Territory from an unproductive into

The great bulk of the corn now arriving in St. Louis has been and still is coming via the settled fact that the conference will Elkhorn Valley road of Nebraska, that road Elkhorn Valley road of Nebraska, that road running through the section that raised three-fourths of the corn crop of that State. A joint tariff rate has been allowed by the Elkhorn Valley road to St. Louis, enabling this market to compete so successfully with Chicago that St. Louis drew most of the corn to herself. Notice was issued to-day that this joint tariff expires on and after February 13, which cuts St. Louis entirely out of that territory. This action was taken in the interest of Chicago, the Northwestern road controlling the Elkhorn Valley Line and working in the interest of Chicago.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM. Speaker Bannerman's Course.

To the Editor of the Post- Disnatch . There must have been some malign influence at work upon Speaker Bannerman at the he appointed his committee of conference on the appropriation bill. Or are we to regard his gross violation of all parliamentary precedent, not to speak of common fairness, as his own conception of the proper duty of a presiding officer? In either case, and there can be no alternative explanation, he has grievously disappointed the expectations of very many of his friends who believed at least in his intentions to try to do what is right. Here was a disagreement between the two branches of the Municipal Assembly, chiefly upon an item in the appropriation bill. A small amount required by the Recorder of Voters to enable him to purge the registration lists of a large number of illegal voters. A conference committee was ordered when the Speaker selected the three on the part of the House from those who had steadily voted against that appropriation giving the minority of twelve members out of a total of twenty-eight no representation whatever. Of course the result was what might have been expected, a further disagreement. What was not expected was a repetition of the same ecommittee. A few he appointed his committee of conference or the result was what might have been expected, a further disagreement. What was not expected was a repetition of the same wrong in the reappointment of the same committee. A few more such "breaks" will convince those who have been heretofore incredulous that had the "combine" succeeded in its attempt to reorganize the House no greater harm could have been done than by continuing an organization of which Speaker Bannerman is the head and Tom Wand and Stone its spokesmen on the floor.

Hard Rap at the Protectionists-The Ef. fect of Fermer Reductions of the Tariff
-Probable Policy of the Republican Party-Blaine's Candidacy-An Interesting Interview With the Chicago Editor,

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., February 7.—Mr. Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribuné. who has been in Jacksonville for some days, was asked to give his views upon the tariff licy outlined in President Cleveland's mesage. Mr. Medill replied: "I don't consider policy of the Republican party. You will please remember that the greatest reduction in the tariff was made in 1857, when the Reand the leaders of that party had time and again advocated a reform in this direction.

entirely to causes wholly foreign to the tariff. The increase in the tariff was a war tax directly on the people to pay for the war and the preservation of the Union. Nobody claimed that it was for a protection of our home industries. Time and again during that period I have beard men argue for this increase before the Ways and Means Committee, and always with the promise that when the war was over and the finances of the country restored to their normal condition this tax upon the people should be remitted. You can therefore imagine how inconsistent these hoary-headed legislators sppear, when they rise up to-day and oppose a reduction of the tariff as dangerons to American manufactures. They are going squarely back upon their pledges then made in the name of the Republican party."

"I suppose you refer to Senator Hoar," interjected the Post-Dispatch correspondent. "Yes; I refer to Edmunds and Morrill and John Sherman and 'Pig-iron' Kelly and Sam Randall and all those men, who promised so fairly, but who, now that the war exigency is twenty years behind us, persist in levying taxes upon the people under the cloak of "protection." taxes upon the people under the cloak of 'protection.''

"What do you regard as the probable policy of the Republican party with reference to the tariff in the next campaign?"

"Much, I think, will depend upon the tariff legislation of the present Congress. If it passes a good bill reducing the revenue upon imports wisely in those particulars where experience shows the greatest relief will be afforded, Western Republicans can hardly face their constituents with no opposition to tariff reform, and their attitude will have much to do with shaping the policy of the whole party."

WOMEN ON STREET-CARS. A Conductor Defends Them Against Cheap and Frequent Slanders.

"Stop the car, please!" The above words striking the ears of POST-DISPATCH reporter on the back of an Olive street car caused him to turn his head and see the lady who uttered them following the car and gestioniating wildly.

To his surprise, he recognized her as one of a trio whom the carbad just passed as they

When the lady had got on and the car started on its way, the reporter turned to the conductor with the remark: "I suppose the ladies are a great nuisance to you railroad men?"

and the leaders of that sparty had time and again advocated a reform in this direction. When a reduction of the tariff was proposed, the same old arguments were used against it which we hear so frequently to-day. It was alleged that this measure would open the field to foreign competition in our manufactures; that our millis and factories would be forced to shut down; that the operatives would be driven to farming in order to earn a living; and that as a consequence by an overproduction of farm products the prices of these would be reduced and the industry thus paralyzed. Well, the bill passed. It reduced the import tax to about 19 per cent the carest this country has ever come to a free-trade basis.

"What was the result? There was naturally a reduction of a few millions in the Treasury surplus, but the mills kept on manufacturing goods and selling them; there was no perceptible increase in the importation of foreign products over what might be reasonably expected from the growth of the country; there was no flesing of city mechanics into the country, and at harvest time it was just as difficult to obtain extra hands as it had been previously. The products of the farm brought just as good prices as before. There was a slight reduction, of course, in the price of manufactured goods, and every man's dollar had an edy a way were shown on the farm brought just as good prices as before. BEFORE JUDGE CADY.

A Bad Negro Gets a Severe Punishment Other Cases Disposed Of. Thomas E. Lindley, the negro who gave the police such a tussle at Beaumont and Market streets last evening, was before Judge Cady this morning on three charges—drunk on the street, carrying concealed weapons and rea disturbance when Officer Lyden, who is just a disturbance when Officer Lyden, who is just out of a sick bed, attempted to arrest him. Lindley, who is a big, powerful negro, took it into his head that he was not going to be arrested and knocked Lyden down. A police whistle brought Officers Monrotus and Hayes to the scene, and after quite a tussle the trio succeeded in conquering the negro with the aid of their clubs, one of them knocking a hole in his head. Lindley had a revolver in his otheir clubs, one of them knocking a hole in his head. Lindley had a revolver in his pocket which he attempted to draw, but was unsuccessful in getting it out. This morning Judge Cady fined him $5 for the drunk, $50 for carrying concealed weapons and $50 for resisting an officer, which will keep the negro on the rock pile for some time to come.

Waiter J. Roctler, a very respectable-looking man, who was given an excellent reputation by his neighbors and acquaintances, was before the court on a charge of disturbing the peace. It appears that on Saturday night, January il, he and some friends were coasting down lami street, and as they were coming up the hill he grabbed the heads of the team in a Gravois car which came along. It was supposed that the crowd intended robbing the car, and Officer Dugge and four other men who were passengers jumped out and attacked injuries which necessitated his removal to the City Hospital. were passengers jumped out and attacked them. In some manner Roctler received injuries which necessitated his removal to the City Hospital, whither he was taken in an unconscious condition. Before being knocked out, however, he made quite a fight. At the trial to-day he stated that he had been drinking, and knew nothing of what had occurred. Judge Caty said the youth was evidently under the influence of liquor, and had no intention of robbing the car, it being merely a drunken freak. He had already been severely punished for his foolishness, but that punishment was the result of his own act. He would punish him farther, but, considering his youth and the fact that it was a first offense would let him off as lightly as possible. He would fine him 510. Another charge of resisting an officer had been preferred against the boy, but the Court recommended that it be not pressed.

Judge Cady fined George Heyer, a 17-year-old boy, $20 for being drunk, so as, he stated, teach him a lesson.

Burrell Cleveland, a young negro, was fined $20 for striking Mary Casey, and Irvin Wyckoff was charged $10 for disturbing the beace of his wife.

as well as the same interest in the rental collected since 1865, amounting to $13.500. The plaintiff claims that in 1868 her grandmother, Mrs. Mary C. Kepple, gave to Wagner 1800 to purchase the lot on which the house now in dispute stands, under the condition that he should heve it deeded to his wife (her daughter) and the two children, of which the plaintiff was one. Soon after the wife and one child died, leaving the plaintiff alone. Wagner married, and his second wife dying, he married again. The third wife learned of the girl's interest in the property and they made life a burden for her. She was locked in the cellar, scantily fed and cruelly worked. Some of her schoolmates discovered her condition and brought her food and finally told their payents. May 3, 1878, a mob was formed, and it was with difficulty that Wagner was escorted to a train for Cincinnati, where he has lived and where his third wife and her daughter both died in the last two years.

WON'T STOP A WATCH.

WHY SOME PASSENGERS REFUSE TO RII ON THE NEW ELECTRIC CAR.

Absurd Idea That the Julien-Br Coach on Washington Avenue Is Freighted With Danger to Valuable Time-Pieces — A Queer Incident This Morning—The New Coach Making Beg-ular Trips To-Day—Interesting Facts About the Magnetization of Watches.

The Lindell Company's Julien-Brush car on ceased to be a novelty, though it now makes its daily quota of trips between Grand avenue the vehicle before going down town. Its seats are generally crowded, but mere weight seems to have but little effect on its locomotion the speed never slackening bowling along the levels of the east end or climbing the ugly grade just west of Grand avenue. There is one class of peoto the new-fangled method of rapid transit, and that is those who indisoriminately devour everything in print concerning the magnetization of watches, without the precaution of first learning if the account is universally applicable. It was one of these who, in the hearing of a Post-Disparch reporter, was hailed from the Lindell motor by Secretary Baumhoff of the company with an invitation to ump on and "see the wheels go round."

TOO SMART FOR THAT. "Ride on that car; not much," came back the answer from the wary citizen addressed. who by the way was opposed to cable con struction on the strength of its possible depre ciation of residence property along the route.
"I've heard too much about those motors," he continued, as the cars sped by, "and my watch is entirely too handsome to have it spoiled by letting that battery magnetize it. The cautious pedestrian hailed a bob-tail car and balanced himself with a strap, while Mr. Baumhoff said: "What sheer nonsense that is, and yet there are a great number of people who are similarly misinformed. Now, as a matter of fact, i would be willing to pay for every watch that was damaged through being carried on this car. You see, there is no dynamo on board, the batteries being charged at the stables, and this being the case, no time-plece, however delicately constructed, can become magnetized. I have read reports describing how the watches of every passenger on board an electric motor stopped short like the traditional clock in the song, and while such a happening might apply to some system where the dynamo is brought into closer contact with passengers, it is a physical impossibility with the Julien—Brush combination." Mr. Baumhoff said: "What sheer non-physical impossibility with the Julien—Brush combination."

I was not very long ago that people scoffed at the idea of watches being magnetized at all, but now that the mysterious influence is generally recognized, a dozen schemes have been formulated by inventive brains to counteract the effect. The anti-magnetic shield is perhaps the most widely known contrivance of this nature, but the manufacturers of watches who want something that is a portion of the mechanism proper until recently thought they had found it in a hair-spring and balance-wheel made of palladium, this metal not being capable of magnetization. Referring to this yesterday, Mr. A. G. Wiseman, inspector of watches for the Mobile & Ohio Railway, said: "I have made several tests with watches constructed in this manner, and when I applied them to a dynamo they invariably ceased running. Afterwards, however, they would keep correct time, showing that but little more was wanted to solve the puzzie and counteract the subtle influence at work. This can in all probability be accomplished by making the anchor of the watch of palladium, as well as the hair-spring and balance wheel. The other parts being of brass, the escapement would thus be protected and the danger from magnetization effectually obviated."

It is understood that a movement is on foot and the danger from magnetization effectually obviated."

Esting the watches.

It is understood that a movement is on foot among the railroads centering in this city to place the watches of their conductors under the supervision of Prof. H. S. Pritchett's time-service corps at Washington University. On the strength of this a New England watch manufacturing firm, which claims to have obtained the control of the anti-magnetic escapement idea, has sent an agent to St. Louis supplied with movements whose feature is the palladium balance-wheel, hair-spring and anchor, and if the patent is demonstrated to be a success, the chances are that it will be adopted and that the University will in the near future be responsible for the accurate time kept by the watches of conductors on St. Louis railroad trains.

BREWSTER'S FOLLY. NEW YORK, February 7 .- There was an exterday of a piece of property with a remarkable history. It consisted of 627 and 629 Broadway and 196 and 198 Mercer street, cov-Seabury Brewster, who made a fortune in dry come from it should make his declining days comfortable. He still owned it at his death in 1884. The property was boarded up during the latter half of the thirty-three years that intervened, because the owner thought it ought to bring a higher rent than any one would offer him. His friends tried to argue would offer him. His friends tried to argue him out of his purpose, but he repiled that he had made up his mind to get his own figure or nothing, and was not to be turned from that determination. As years went by the property became known as Brewster's folly. The old man rather enjoyed the comment his action exoited and paid without a murmur the yearly taxes levied against it, amounting, while it was vacant, close to $20,000.

The long period of vacancy damaged the neighborhood. Here was an unsightly place, which apparently no tenant wanted, and the blook in Broadway below Bleeker street thus lost character in some degree among business men. When it at last became commonly understood why the property was vacant, so much damage had been done the block that it was not easy to repair it. All this time Mr. Brewster made his home at the New York Hotel, where he had very comfortable bachelor quarters, and from which he could stroll down past his property and get as often as he liked whatever grim satisfaction there might be in looking upon his work, and contemplating the wrath of the neighboring tenants, who looked on the big empty five-story, double-width marble building as if some uncanny influence proceeded from it. There was at one time talk of trying to bring the old man into court in a sut for damages, and witnesses were ready to prove that the neighborhood had suffered by his conduct, and other property owners were, therefore, entitled to redress. Mr. Brewster's friends think that he would rather have enjoyed the notoriety of such a suit, for he never shunned publicity in regard to this whim. When he died the building had been so long tenantless that the executors found that it would reas that the this whim. When he died the building had been so long tenantiess that the executors found that it would not readily rent. They were hampered, moreover, by their inability to make long leases, as the property was to be sold, the executors were unwilling to load the new owner with any obligations to tenants. About a year ago various persons were found to rent the premises at a shade below lease prices and to agree to move on thirty days' notice. They have been paying at the rate of $14,000 a year. The property sold for $248,500.

Danville, Ill., February 7.—A case of fiendsh and brutal assault was accid covered yesterday and several of the brutal perpetrators are now lying in the city prison.

Messrs. Henry Brand, O. S. Cowan, B. F. Leach and several other gentlemen took their guns yesterday afternoon and went out west of the C. & E. I. shops, in Stony Creek bottoms, to do some shooting. About A ciclost of the C. & E. I. shops, in Stony Creek bottoms, to do some shooting. About 4 o'clock they heard cries as of a child in distress. Near an old pump house they discovered a dozen or more tramps sitting around a fire. They had a jug of whisky and all were gloriously drunk; lying on the ground near by was an old iron smoke-stack some three feet in diameter and from it the cries proceeded. Mr. Bland looked into the smoke-stack and saw a boy and man inside. The rest of the shooting-parriy was called and an examination of the inside of the smoke-stack was made. The man escaped, but the boy, who was probably about 14 years old, was found with almost every stitch of clothing form cold and fright. Mr. Brand's indignation knew no bounds, and he commenced knocking down the tramps with his fist as fast as he came to them. The patrol wason was sent for and seven tramps and the boy were taken to the city prison. The boy was unconsclous for several hours after he was taken to the police station. The boy this morning says his name is Willie Balley, and he lives in Indianapolis, at 35 South Bradshaw street. He had started from his home to Bloomington, Ill., and stopped of here and accidentally fell in with the tramps, who induced him to drink whisky until he was intoxicated.

Plan of the Great Combination Which Will Result in Larger Profits NEW YORK, February 7 .- The formation of the proposed rubber trust is new a question of only a few days. The committee appointed to settle the difference between Christopher Meyer and the others regarding the New Jersey manufactories has effected a compromise and will propose a plan of organization at a meeting to be held within two or three days. meeting to be held within two or three days. By this plan all manufacturers of rubber goods who wish to join the trust will pool their own stock and turn it over to the central company in exchange for certified shares of the trust in proportionate value. These concerns which can manufacture rubber goods at the lowest rates will be continued in operation, while the others will shut down. These different factories kept in operation will make different grades of goods, with the result of making more goods with less labor and a much smaller cost. Instead of 8 and 9 per cent profit, as at present, the firms interested will then be able to realize over 15 per cent profit annually, The formation of this trust will have three great results: The profits for the consumers will become higher and several thousand workmen will be thrown out of employment without any other resources to fall back upon. The combine involves a working capital of $50,000,000 and an annual trade of $100,000,000.

NEW YORK, February 7 .- The trial of the suit of Frederick B. Smith against the National Benefit Society for $10,000, the amount of a suicide under the name of A. A. Allen, at the vember 12, 1886, will be remembered, was lyn, before Justice Cullen and a jury. When Tyner died his life was insured in various companies for an aggregate of about $300,000 in sums ranging from $5,000 to $20,000. The Travelers insurance Company of Hartford and some of the other companies compromised with the holders of the policies, some paying as much as 60 cents on the dollar, and some, it is said, considerably less. The National Benefit and other co-operative companies refused to recognize the validity of the policies, alleging fraud and conspiracy from the moment application was made for them until Tyler's death. The present suit will be considered a test case. It is expected that new and sensational developments in this extraordinary case will come out before the close of the trial. Detectives for the defendant have been employed for a year in tracing the history of Tyler, and it is alleged that proof will be introduced that he entered into a conspiracy with certain persons whom he had defrauded to have his life heavily insured for their benefit, and then, failing of any other means to make good their claims, to commit suicide. lyn, before Justice Cullen and a jury. and study in Europe with all of her expenses hefrayed.

After testing her powers thoroughly himself and suggesting to her a plan he had in his mind Mr. McCloy wanted the verdict of others who are competent to judge. He made an arrangement for her to go to New York and sing for several critics there. Miss Fox went the week before Christmas. An arrangement had been made to have her sing on the stage of the Union Square Theater, and among those who agreed to hear her were Andrew C. Wheeler (Nym Crinkle), dramatic and musical critic of the New York WORLD; H. E. Krehbiel, musical critic of the ribune, whose authority in music is unquesponed; J. M. Hill, manager of the Union Square heater; Charles Palmer, Genevieve Lyton and some dozen or so other ladies and gentlemen, who had heard of the little linger.

Mr. McCloy was there on pins, but still con-gentlemen, who had heard of the little singer.

Mr. McCloy was there on pins, but still condident, and clever little bella, while she was nervous, as any one would be at such a critical moment, stood the ordeal like a soldier and with only an accompanist on the big stage faced the select audience and sang as if she meant to conquer and she did. She sang the waitz song from "Fatinitza" and i'I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls' from the "Bohemian Girl." At the conclusion of the last song Mr. Wheeler turned to Mr. McCloy and remarmed: "Lelle de Lussan all over, with this in her favor that de Lussan is 36 and this girl is 17."

girl is 17."

Mr. Krebbiel said nothing, but going to the stage, asked Miss Fox if she could sing the "Shadow Song." This is Mr. Krebbiel's test of a singer's vocal powers and she had scarcely sung ten bars when he said emphatically, "She can sing anything." This settled it and the triumph of the young St. Louis singer was complete.

When the trial was over Miss Fox was congratulated by all of the company, was kissed and hugged by the ladies and was almost treated in the same way by the gentlemen. They would not believe that she had not been trained, her phrasing was pronounced wonder.

gratulated by all of the company, was kissed and hugged by the ladies and was almost treated in the same way by the gentlemen. They would not believe that she had not been trained, her phrasing was pronounced wonderful and she is looked upon by those who heard her as something of a prodigy and as possessing one of the finest volces in this country. Mr. J. M. Hill was so atruck with her possibilities that he took Mr. McCloy aside and offered to furnish every dollar necessary to give her a more thorough musical training and to put her on the operatic stage with the finest surroundings to be commanded.

Mr. McCloy asked Mr. Hill if he knew what that offer meant, and he said he did and named a sum which is a small fortune. Mr. Hill is now one of the signers of the contract. The contract is for three years, with the privilege of continuing it for five more if desired. It is not the intention of Messrs. MoCloy and Hill to put Miss Fox on the stage at once, but it has been arranged that she go to New York this spring and study there under Murlo-Celli and in June she goes to Europe with a party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Heatumn of Isso. She has always shown a taste for the stage and when she was only 6 years of age made a hit as the midshipmite in an amateur juvenile "Pinafore" company, singing a song that was encored again and again. hitherto unseated space are being brought into use. The sketches Mr. Johnson makes during the week and tacks them in order on the board. Besides the pencil, Mr. Johnson employs with good effect a fine barytone voice and ability to manipulate the organ. With the aids of music and the pencil he is able to make an evening pass very pleasantly to an audience. If his text suggests to him a particular hymn and expounding and sketching fail to bring out the exact thought, he takes his place at the organ, a is Sankey, and pours out his voice in a rich solo with a careful shading produced by years of practice. Although many gray hairs have come into Mr. Johnson's hair and long beard, his tones are still full and round. He is a gentleman slightly below the medium height and not especially muscular. What he lacks in physical strength he has a boundless supply, Indeed, good humor is a leading ingredient of his religion. "I do not believe that dyspepsia is a qualification for entering Heaven, nor de I believe that those who look the sickest are necessarily the most plous," he often says. This feeling is contagious and affects his congregation. A stranger attending his service will be surprised at first at the spirit of fun that pervades the pews. It is not exactly levity and there is no disrespect intended, nor would any one admit that there was anything in the service to excite the flow of fun. Probably it wouldn't be called fun if the world were not accustomed to seeing straight faces in church. When anybody is particularly pleased with a point in the address he does not hesitate to look over to his neighbor and smile, and give a good smile, too, showing his teeth perchance and squinting up his eyes. And if the little children want to turn around in the seats they can do it without being frowned on.

Carter, a well-to-do stevedore, has been in the Jefferson Market Court twice on complaint of his wife, Rosa of Carter, who keeps a boarding-house at No. 447 West Twenty-second street. Carter was a widower and his wife a widow when the twain met. Since his marriage Carter has become year effections and the said to his bride: "Now, my was performed he said to his bride: "Now, my is binding enough. We will go to another church and get married over again." Mrs. Carter says they went to another church and get married over again." Mrs. Carter says they went to another church, went through another ceremony, and she has now two marriage certificates. Her husband, she complains, became over affectionate. He would say to her: "Now, my dear, you don't caress me enough." He found fault with her kissing, and exclaimed: "Oh dear, you don't kiss me is no not which she and her daughter were sleeping, and called his wife to "come kiss him." The wife dulfully arose and kissed him, where upon, she declares, he slapped her face and knocked her down.

When asked what he had to say he denied that he struck her, and went on to explain that all the trouble arose from certain debts he owed before he was married. "Whenever this woman sees me," he said, "she gets down upon her knees, and raising her hands to heaven, shouts: "Oh, save me from this man: he is going to harm me!" I said to her: "Foolish woman, get up; there is no one going to harm thee."

The wife declared that this was not so, and Justice White held Carter in $300 ball for assault. He gave bonds.

Young Man Tells How He Was Saved by

THE HOPE FOR ALL

Is The Only McNichols. Don't close your cheerful window
When the flames illumine the hearth;
Where you dream with none to hinder
Of your home on this pleasant earth.
The firelight flames and flashes
And glowson the pictured wall;
Ever to dust and ashes—
Must come thus the dreams of all.

Draw up the blind or the curtain, Though it were storming of sleet Some one with feet slow—uncertain May linger and yearn in the street Some one whose dull remembrance

What is the harm to enlighten
The tramp or the heathen there!
Only an instant to brighten
A life that is full of care;
Leave him to gaze and ponder,
Think on the hope he has lost;
A miserable vagrant and yonder

Can you not see all the error
Letting home go—making none;
Until alone in his terror—
Kinfolks are gone, one by one;
This is a lesson, oh, heeder,
Heed it, beware what 'tw'ill teach;
There is a help here, NOW READ IT,
Help is in every man's reach.

They were very anxious to visit the dead man and perform a mystic ceremony over the remains, being perfectly satisfied that after they had done so he would come to life in five days time. Tinkham laughed at the idea, but the Chinamen were very much in earnest, and promised to pay him for his trouble if he would go. Finally, Mr. Tinkham and his son-in-law dressed and went to the shop and let them in. From beneath their capacious blouses they drew forth three live hens which they killed by cutting off their heads and legs. With the blood which flowed from their neeks, the Chinamen smeared the face and breast of the dead man, all the time murmuring some incense. They did other strange things with the body and left, assuring Mr. Tinkham that Hop Lung Sing would come to life in five days from that time.

He was brought to the club by a light repast of sandwiches and wine awaited a light repast of sandwiches and wine awaited him in the dining hall. This over, President Cockerili conducted his guest up stairs to the reading room, where he was formally introduced to 150 odd members. M. Blouet said that he had intended writing a book upon America and had come here for the purpose of studying and criticising American life. "A critic," he said, "must be in sympathy with his subject and the kindness I have received on all sides has certainly made me so. I have seen all phases of American life from the highest circles to the lowest stages of degradation."

This is the season for the base-ball calm. The storm will begin about ten weeks later on. The only thing allowed to ruffie the base ball waters during this calm, besides the the bluff that they would bid farewell to the diamond for more lucrative occupations, is the prediction of the teams that will win the

WASHINGTON

This leaves out Indianapolis, which plainly means that that club will disband before the season is over, and it requires the use of the champion team itself—betroit. Of course, no well-regulated team can hope to win without its own exertions. It also brings Philadelphia in next to the leader.

Here is another anagram:

PITTSBURG DETROIT INDIANAPOLIS WASHINGTON CHICAGO NEW YORK

This ignores Philadelphia, which has always been and slways will be a factor in the settlement of the League championship question. Another fault is that it merely utilizes Boston as a sort of perpendicular sandwich, and does not give it any show on the horizontal. That will never do. The shades of Sir Michael Kelly's salary forbid it and the law of anagrams is dead set against it. against it.

Now that the League pennant is disposed of, it behoves me to turn my attention anagrammatically to the Association flag. Here the problem is slightly more involved, as the following will show:

BALTIMORE
ATHLETIC
CLEVELAND
ST. LOUIS
CINCINNATI ST. LOUIS

CLEVELAND BROOKLYN LOUISVILLE CINCINNATI KANSAS CITY It will be noticed by the above triplets that the Athletic has two swings for the jack, and besides, each time it uses up the entire crowd. Now, in the St. Louis stand Barnie's kids are conspicuous by their absence unless they represent the dot after the "St." It will also be observed that there is a unanimity in the matter of putting Kansas City near the bottom. There can be no disputing the fact that the above anagrams settle the whole business. All that remains now to be done is for the respective clubs to play their various hands one with another according to the schedules, then count up for game.

The Cincinnati Club is the first to strike a blow at the bleaching boards. The managers as at the other day: "There are to be no bleaching boards at the Cincinnati grounds this coming season, as the free stands are to be overed so as to protect the spectators from the sun." This news has been halled with delight by the base bail lovers in Cincinnati, while the cry from all the other base ball cities is, "Let the good work go on." The first to make the move toward this much needed improvement is a credit to it, and it is only another move in which the League will be forced to follow.

When the sdmission price to the American Association games was increased the managers of ene or two of the clubs set to work forming plans for giving their patrons better bail and better accommodations for their money. The Brooklyn managers strengthened their team, but owing to the situation of their grounds and stands it will not be an easy matter to cover the bleaching boards. Other clubs of the Association will follow the lead of the Cincinnati men and cover their bleaching boards. JOHNSON'S REPLY.

The Champion Sprinter Answers Seriou

Charges Against American Runners. The Post-Disparch to-day received a letter from Mr. Harry M. Johnson, the champion sprinter of the world, in which he severely criticises an article printed in the Globe-Dem ocrat some days ago. Among other things, the article in question mentioned the purity of run-ning sport in England, and charged Johnson ning sport in England, and charged Johnson and others with being "jobbers" and thieves. It ended by saying that the public would be compelled to turn to amateur sport for honesty. It quotes the fact that books are made on the Sheffield handicap, and says that such a thing would be impossible in this country. To support its position it adduces the fact that American sprinters run under assumed names. Here is Mr. Johnson's reply:

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

has to run under his own colors or pedisqualified. They have handloaps in Philadelphia, offer the same prizes, as in Sheffield, but of course the betting is much heavier in England than America. Who does the dishonest work in Philadelphia? It is not the sprinters, but it is the promoters of the sport. To save their prizes they put in ringers, place them on a top mark, and a man who goes to Philadelphia to run for what he is worth is robbed. How could fifty runners divide a purse? What would there be to divide? If there was book-making, who would trust the book-maker? The writer of the above clipping must be crazy, and I consider it a very poor plan to encourage amateur sport by taying to degrade professionals. I have never ran a dishonest race in my life and am always ready to run for the money, but no one will accept a challenge I offer, therefore I have to go under another name and get what races I can. The man I run sees me and says he will run and he asks no questions or names. The must I go tell him my name is H. M. Johnson and that I can beat anybody? How would I live if I did that? There is surely nothing dishonest about it. I never sneaked in towns like a thief, and consider myself a little more honest than the writer of that article in the Globe-Democrat. He furthermore says sprinting in England, won a Sheffield handicap and was approached by a dozen book-makers to lose the race and they would pay me well. When I would not do that I say the colored runner was paid to foul me. He did and I won that heat by one foot. Besides this, the handicaps are given by a company and every member of that company is the supporter of three to four of the runners. They do the handicapping and when an outsider gets in and wins, he has got to be awfully isst, and they would them. A say the colored runner was paid to four of the runners friends own country. In my final heat in England I was done up by a misfire and then had to run it over again, but they wanted to have it fixed to have the money divided and not run over, b

The bleaching boards on base ball grounds of late years have been as much to the grounds as the diamond itself, and no base ball ground has been considered complete without them, as aya a New York paper. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A few days ago I wrote a letter to a prominent amateur athlete of your city regarding a professional handleap which he told me he thought of promoting in St. Louis, and in reply he sent me a clipping from the Globe-Democrat. Now, I beg of you to allow me space to defend myself as well as some of the profession. True it is American sprinters run under assumed names. Englishmen do the same; take Volkes, Gibson, Broadbent and many others. In handleap it is different. A man has to run under his own colors or be disqualified. They have handleaps to Philadelphia, offer the same prizes, as in Sheffield, but of course the betting is much heavier in England than America. Who does the dishonest work in Philadelphia? It is

One of the leading features of the grand circult races in 1888 will doubtless be double-team races. Such old-time drivers as Budd Doble, O. A. Paddy Ryan's friend and trainer, Paddy Carroli, has followed in the Trojan's footateps, and it is said that the two defeated champions will bundle up traps in the same trunk and start for Oregen in a few days especially to give the Oregonians an opportunity of seeing a true exhibition of wind-mill boxing. Ryan and Carroli were defeated principally because neither man took the necessary precaution of getting into proper condition for a prize-fight, or else they were too lazy to train. Because they had somewhat of a reputation of defeating one or two men in the East they thought that would be sufficient to scare half the fight out of their opponents, and by forcing the battle from the word go victory would crown their efforts to win in two or three rounds. at most. Both Carroli and Ryan fought like Trojans when time was called for the first round, but to their amazement their antagonists remained firm and ready to come again.—[San Francisco Call.]

In conversation with a reporter of a Sydney daily after the great race with Beach in Australia on November 26 last, Hanlan said: "The race is now over and Beach is still champion of the world, and I have no doubt that Anstralia is proud of this third victory which he has won over me. Beach certainly has proved himself one of the greatest scullers that the world has ever seen in this great race on the Nepean. It was rowed and finished satisfactorily according to the rules and regulations of boat-racing, and I think it will be many a long day before such snother exhibition of skill. Speed, endurance and grit will be witnessed. At the starting post I was very confident. I never backed up to the score in better condition in my life; in fact, I was never in such good condition or more confident of victory. I now think that if I had made a special effort just at the one-mile post instead of later on I would have won. I feel confident that if Beach had kept his own course and given me a fair field and not his backwash I would have crossed the score winner, and in considerably less than 19 min. and 64 sec."

A Couple of Little Colored Wanderers From the House of Refuge.

Two little colored boys, giving their names as George Thomas and Charlie Miles, and ages as 10 and 11 respectively, are looked up at the Third District Station. They were taken in and kept by a colored woman in that neighborhood last night, who turned them over to the police this merning. Miles said that he lived at Tenth and Gratiot streets, while Thomas firmly asserted that he traveled from Kansas City. About noon to-day it was ascertained that they, with another colored boy had escaped from the House of Refuge yesterday. When accused of this they "owned-up," and said that they got away by climbing the fence. When little Thomas was asked why he told such lies he answered that he "thought that place was Kansas City." They are very small for their ages if they have given them correctly. They will be returned to the Refuge. borhood last night, who turned them over to
